Brad Newell joins The Singh Foundation board

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for allowing me to be a part of this amazing foundation. I strongly believe that when we help the youth in our society, we are providing them with the fundamentals needed to have successful lives. If we “Just Let the Kids Play” we are giving them the opportunity to learn so many valuable life lessons; from team building, a sense of self-worth, compassion and discipline are just a few benefits off the top of my head. Kids need to feel like they are a part of something bigger than themselves, it helps so much with their overall mental health.

When Bob asked me to be a part of this I didn't hesitate to agree, it is a passion of mine to help people build stronger mental health tools and I can't think of a better place to start than with kids. It shouldn't matter if they are born into wealth or poverty, kids deserve the chance to thrive.

I am proud to be a representative and look forward to doing all I can to build the awareness and participation in The Singh Foundation. I strongly urge you to check out the website and consider how you can help!
